A modern approach to cancer in Canada

The refreshed Canadian Strategy for Cancer Control has been released by the Canadian Partnership Against Cancer.

Together, 7,500 Canadians from all walks of life and across the country, including frontline healthcare workers, policymakers and First Nations, Inuit and Métis communities, governments and organizations shaped this Strategy. This shared vision sets the course for Canada's approach to cancer over the next decade.

The refreshed Strategy focuses on improving equity within the cancer system, including First Nations, Inuit and Métis priorities. It also focuses on long-term, sustainable impact, so all Canadians can benefit from a high-quality, world-class cancer control system for generations to come.

CancerCare Manitoba enjoys a strong partnership with CPAC is very pleased with the refresh of the Canadian Strategy for Cancer Control. CCMB was very engaged in the process of the refresh and in contributing to its development. The refreshed national Strategy will guide CCMB in the 5 to 10 years in Manitoba and will direct CCMB in its strategy for cancer control in the province of Manitoba.
